Foreword

We are living in an age of progress — progress in education, communication, transportation, and invention for the betterment of the world. Typical of the progress made in the twentieth century is aviation. Wilbur Wright was born in Millville, Indiana, just seventy years ago. He, and his brother Orville, invented the airplane the first part of the twentieth century. Since the day of that combination kite and engine-driven windmill there has been tremendous progress in aviation. In 1927, Col. Charles Lindbergh made his famous New York to Paris flight; and in 1937 Howard Hughes spanned the United States in 7 hours, 28 minutes, and 27 seconds. Aviation is only one example of the rapid progress made in the last few years; radio, television, talking-pictures, and photography have made unbelievable progress. In publishing this, the 1937 Anlibrum, the Senior class is attempting to show the progress of Elmhurst.

SENIOR HISTORY

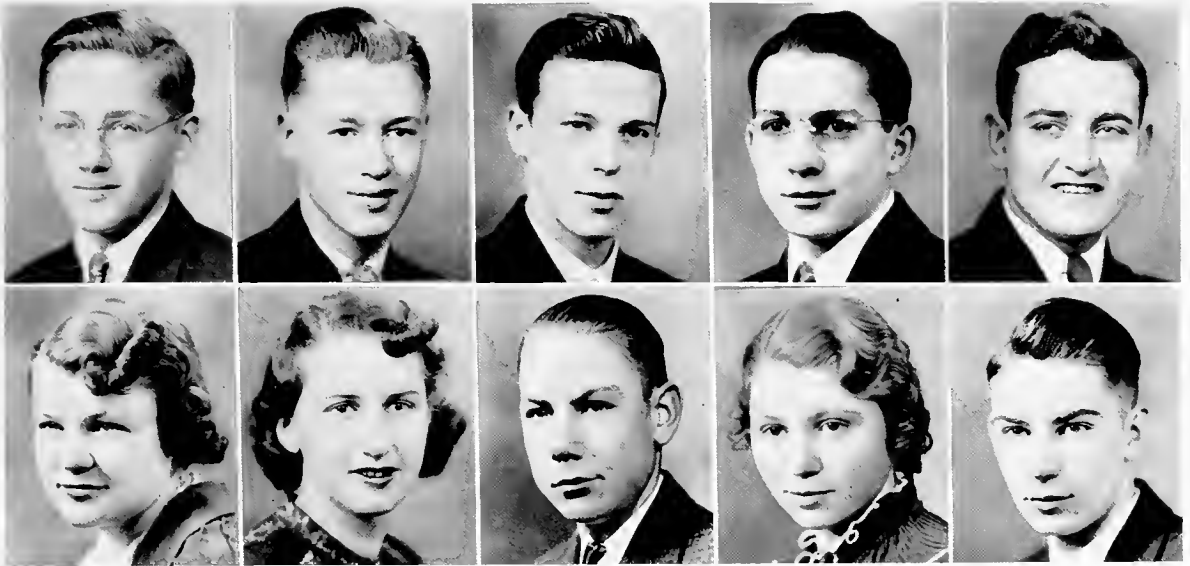

Ready for a four year tour, the plane, E. Trojan 1937, took off in September 1933 with a passenger cargo of one hundred and seven. Dick Parkison was selected pilot; DeWitt Porter, co-pilot; Verdella Bergman, mechanic; Bette Driver, radio operator; and Mr. Jeffrey, steward. As freshmen, their outstanding activities were a "Kid" Party and a "Hard Times" Party.

A score of passengers were lost before we took off on the second lap of the flight. Dick Parkison was again selected pilot; DeWitt Porter, co-pilot; Marjorie Hargrave, mechanic; Ernest Pond, radio operator; and Miss Auman, stewardess. As sophomores, the passengers chose to feature a Skating Party and a "Cowboy" Party.

Up we went to begin the third lap with a cargo of seventy-four. The newly selected pilot for this lap was Jack Oswald; co-pilot, Earl Shaefer; mechanic, Waldo Albert; radio operator, Maurice Robertson; and steward, Mr. Eickhoff. Twenty-five weeks passed with no exceptional mishap. But — Oh! March 13! We sought the ground so that we could attend the "Nite Club" Party held in the school gym. And above all, we would not omit the Junior Prom. Alice Stroh was crowned queen of the affair which featured fairyland.

Up again for the fourth and final lap with Dick Parkison as pilot; Jack Oswald, co-pilot; Waldo Albert, mechanic; Earl Shaefer, radio operator; and Miss Falls, stewardess. The passenger cargo consisted of fifty-seven. Oh! Oh! We had to make a forced landing to attend the "Witches' Wobble," our dance and "Lindy Lou," the senior play. At the conclusion of a successful four year flight was class day followed by a banquet in honor of the seniors.

We wish to take this opportunity to thank the Alumni for supporting the Anlibrum, and for attending various school activities.

The whole school deeply felt the loss of Dick Carriger, '36. Dick was an active member of several extra-curricular activities, and was known and loved by every one in school.

HISTORY

Setting out on the third lap of their endurance flight, under the guidance of Miss Steiber, stewardess, the Juniors selected as their pilot, Robert Kortokrax; co-pilot, Jack Harper; mechanics, Laura Mae Scherer, secretary, and Allen Cox, treasurer. Members of the class who served on the various committees for the Prom were: publicity — V. McNamara; invitations — K. Wilhoite, I. Schulien, E. Prince; refreshments — A. Tarr, L. M. Scherer, M. Woods, M. Aschliman; entertainment — D. Brauer, B. Wedler, J. Rust; orchestra — J. Harper, A. Cox, M. Thurber; decorations — W. Adams, M. Aschliman, J. Harper, D. Brauer, H. Coil, A. Cox, A. Front Row: Eileen Cohagan, Dorothy Brittenham, Margie Woods, Dorothy Keiser, Letha Brim, Mildred Thurber.

ACTIVITIES

The most important social activity of the Junior class this year was the Prom, which was held in the gymnasium of the school. The theme of the decorations was a Southern beach scene on a bright, sunshiny afternoon. Large and small palms were placed here and there. Tables and chairs, arrayed in various light and cheerful colors, were found along the sides of the gym floor. In addition, a huge map of Florida and the coastal states on the Gulf, adorned one of the walls and informed the guests just how one might amuse himself while in the South. The stage was transformed to represent the front of a hotel, in front of which the orchestra was seated. Dorothy Braeuer was Prom Queen; her attendants were: Laura Mae Scherer, Betty Wedler, Roberta Hilsmier, Garnett Johnson, Mildred Gebhart, Katie Wilhoite.

Sophomores

HISTORY

The total enrollment of the sophomore class during the last semester was eighty-seven, making it the second largest class in the school. Its rival was the freshmen class, which had a total of eighty-eight members. Early in the first semester they chose Eugene Akers as their president; Robert Haller, vice-president; Kathleen Scott, secretary; and Annie Laurie Porter, treasurer.

Eugene, much to the regret of his classmates, moved away shortly after school started. His duties were then fulfilled by the vice-president.

Their first social function of the year was a skating party held on November twenty-eighth at Bell's Rink.

Second Row: Betty Worgum, Pauline Brudenbaugh, Eloise Price, Pauline Johnson, Wyllis Wiegman, Elaine Tarr, Jack Stark, Byron Oswald, Max Farrell, William Fields, Doris March, Esther Hauke, Lorraine Hess, Constance Miller, Cecilia Bergman.

ACTIVITIES

The sophomores have taken an active part in the outside programs of the school. Four members have been on the debate team and have helped to win a considerable number of victories for our school. Band and Orchestra interested twenty-five of the students in the class. Twenty boys and girls were in the Glee Club, and two girls were given leading roles in the operetta. Six of the boys have been a great help to the basketball squad. They also had representatives in the Palette and Brush Club, Industrial Arts Club, and on the Advance Staff. Eighteen sophomores were on the first semester honor roll.

Freshmen

HISTORY

The freshmen, after wandering about with a somewhat lost look on their faces for a week or two, got together for their first class meeting. They chose Bob Bergman as their president; James Beltz, vice-president; Glenna Hoover, secretary; and Donald Connett, treasurer. Mr. Wisner was chosen class sponsor. Their first class function, which was a skating party, held February fifth, proved to be a success due to the efforts of the committee: Ada Perry, Lenora Ankenbruck, John Snyder, Elsie Swank, Rosella Barrand, Bonnie Arnett, Wanda Sarasten, and Laura Jane Foltz. For their second social function they agreed to have a kid party on April twenty-third.

ACTIVITIES

The freshmen were well represented in the numerous activities at Elmhurst. Glee Club caught the attention of ten freshmen, and two girls from the freshman class were given leading parts in the operetta. Twenty-four students of the class were attracted by Band and Orchestra. Thirteen boys were on the basketball squad, while a number of girls enrolled in the G.A.A. Many of the boys joined the Industrial Arts Club, and likewise a number of girls were members of the Regina Domi. In addition there were many students from the class that held positions on the Advance Staff. Thirteen freshmen were on the first semester honor roll.

Elmhurst Varsity

The Line Up

Dwight Byerly "Pete" is completing his second year as the tutor of the Trojans. This is his tenth year as a coach. During his career, he attended Kirkland High School and North Manchester College where he engaged in varsity basketball competition.

LaFawn Hinshaw "Hienie" displayed his ability so well he was chosen "All County Center." Hienie in controlling the tip aided the offense and scored a 100 points for himself.

Waldo Albert "Al" developed into a line backguard during his senior year. Waldo upheld the defense of the Trojan team with his fighting spirit.

Donald Scherer "Don" lead the Trojans in scoring this season. He was elected captain of the team and also named on the All County Second Five.

Jack Harper "Harpo" was a consistent threat from out on the floor with his scoring ability. He scored more than 100 points this year.

William Rowe "Bill" with his fighting spirit and last minute scoring helped the Trojans to win many games.

Roscoe Gebhart "Gebby" is expected to uphold the Trojans' forward wall next season.

Robert Link "Bob" has a natural ability and speed which should prove a main factor in next year's team.

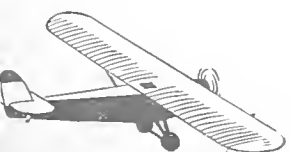

Robert Belschner "Shorty" has height and experience to aid him in next season's playing.

Robert Kortokrax "Kork" redeemed his lack of height by his scrapping spirit.

Arnold Engle "Engle" proved to be a clever ball handler in spite of the fact that this is his first year on the varsity.

Gerald Imel "Geb" is one of the team's best scrappers.

Wendell Fusselman "Red" is only a freshman but will develop into a fine ball player and be of real service for several years.

Trojanettes Undefeated The Entire Season

Some teams are good, and this team of girls certainly was! With the efforts of their coach, "Pop" Smuts, the Trojanettes hold the honor of being the first girls' team of Elmhurst to come through the entire season undefeated. The untiring patience of "Pop" Smuts put the girls through numerous difficult practices. Their perfect record extended also through the County Tourney, making them the County Champs. They are very happy to present to the school the trophy to be kept permanently. Two things that played a large part in completing this fine showing was their clean type of game and their whole-hearted cooperation.

Joan Daniels, a senior, has been of practical service to the team for three years. Although she received several real bumps in many games, she proved to be an invaluable guard.

Helen Gongaware has been a reliable forward and captain of the team. Helen's height and "never give up" spirit won many games. Her "under-the-basket" shots proved to be a great asset. She received her four bars this year.

Helen Fusselman, the red head, is another graduate who received her four bar service letter this year. She hasn't the spit-fire temper that you might expect as four years of service have taught her that a cool head and calm action are necessary. Helen's knack of taking the ball "off the back-stop" made her an outstanding guard.

Bettie Beaman, an all-county forward if there ever was one, is also a senior. She was a varsity forward for the entire four years. In her last game, the one with Arcola in the County Tourney, she made twenty-two points. She won her four bar service letter as well as the admiration of all who saw her play. Her accuracy at the foul line and her one-handed shots under the basket at full speed were almost impossible to stop.

Betty McMahon, reserved and thoughtful, is the type of player every team needs. She also received her four bar service letter this year. Much of her playing centered on blocking out her forward. She really knew how to handle this situation! Recovering the ball on a "dribble-pass" was an "art" with Betty.

Marv Carriger, a much needed part time forward, played a fast and effective game for three years. Several of her long shots added the necessary point to our score.

Doris March and Beatrice Harris, sophomores, are proud owners of new sweaters this year. Maxine Brim, Pauline Johnson, Dorothy Clausen, Rosella Barrand, Betty Wickman, and Freda Schneck also rendered valuable service to the team and displayed Trojanette cooperation in many games.

Class Prophecy

New York, 1948. The elevator shot up to the seventy-third floor, and I dropped my purse. Lipstick, pencil, compact, etcetera, scattered. The elevator operator, Frank Harvuot, was very helpful in retrieving them.

I went into a swanky office. "Parkison & Lorenz" Builders of Sky-scrappers, Glass and Aluminum was on the door. Their private secretary, Mary Carriger, asked me to wait. Soon Ernest Pond, a prominent architect, entered, followed by the Albert brothers, the electrical wizards of the age. Miss Carriger was having difficulty persuading Earl Shaefer that Fuller Brush Men are not allowed in office buildings. Rid of him, she turned to a woman with two small boys, twins. With surprise I saw that it was Dolores Shives. Miss Carriger addressed her as "Mrs. Parkison" and called the boys "Nip" and "Tuck." Then Helen Gongaware, an interior decorator, and her secretary, Mary Ellen Woods, walked into the conference room. Helen does those swanky lobbies and banquet halls.

Then John Alden, a constitutional lawyer, strode in, protesting that they simply couldn't start without him.

I left. Taxiing down Broadway, I turned on the radio and heard them announce: "The Hoosier Song-bird, Miss Helen Fusselman."

Turning the dial, I heard a familiar voice. "This is your announcer, Vincent Hartnett, telling you—" I spun the dial — a swing at a cocktail bar—an all-girl affair led by that trumpet-tootin' Trojan, Doris Romey. I decided to drop in there and ran into Marjorie Hargrave, assistant to Madame Sylvia, the beauty expert. With her was Neleana Sanders, a sophisticated Hollywoodite. There, too, was a vivacious girl reporter on the "Blade." She was trying to spear an olive when a tall, broad-shouldered man entered.

"Listen, Vi McCoy," he began.

"Yes, Mister City Editor, Norman Bade." It looked like an argument so I left hurriedly and bumped smack into Walter Winchell.

"Know anything about anyone I know?" I asked.

"Yeah. Your pals keep me eating these days. Young Carsten is sure making a splash in Broadway. He's backing seven different shows just so the girl friends can work. At that rate, the three million he inherited will soon be gone. Ruth Purdy is being Renovated — for the fourth time. Rilla Wilson's latest, "Murder in Swingtime" is a best seller. Marilyn Fox married a man with sixty years, gout and twenty millions to his credit. Albert Lunz, the M. C. at the Hollywood restaurant is "that way" over Anna Mae Forschner, the flaming-haired Follie dancer. Carl Thomas has earned his nickname "Lucky." An uncle willed him a gold mine and a couple of oil wells. He owns a yacht and a string of polo ponies and makes Robert Taylor look like the forgotten man. Sam Goldwyn has been doing business lately. He hired the dress designer, Jeanette Hyser, also Joan Daniels who has turned from modeling to acting, and Don Scherer, the current Broadway heart throb. Bette Driver handles his advertising. LaFawn Hinshaw won the Pulitzer poetry award. Harold Wiegman is a designer of surrealist furniture; he uses his own brain children and never goes to sleep. I've got to run along now."

Just then Ruth Langmeyer hailed me from a car with an Indiana license. "Wolf and Dessauer sent me here. I'm a buyer you know.

"No," I said. "I didn't know. What's new?

"May Gibson's teaching English at Elmhurst. Betty Monce is flying in China on a good-will tour. Fred Hugenell is a farm experimenter for the government. Louise Jackson is a nurse and Jean Goble, a dietitian. Alex Yovan is a boxer. Lou Coleman and Jo Thurber run a tearoom. Helen Watt married her boss' son and Harriet Oyer broadcasts home financing programs. Glenn Crowl and Robert Snyder are G-men. Dallas Smith is a cashier in a local bank. Robert Gebhart is a circus barker. Bob Swank writes movie reviews for the Journal-Gazette. Bettie Beaman is State golf champ; Clo Prince runs a dress shop. Ruth Seidner is a bookkeeper and Betty McMahon sells tickets at the Emboyd." Ruth paused for breath and headed for Manhattan.

Buying a newspaper from Tony, I scanned the headlines.

STAR SALESMAN HONORED AT BANQUET

The Chevrolet division of the General Motors sales staff at its annual banquet honored Maurice Robertson as the salesman of the year.

I dropped the paper. I realized that I had, in one afternoon, discovered the whereabouts of every one of the Class of '57.

My purpose in reserving this space in "The Anlibrum" is:

To congratulate the Elmhurst High School Faculty and the Parents of the senior class for such fine young ladies and gentlemen as represented in the class of 1957.

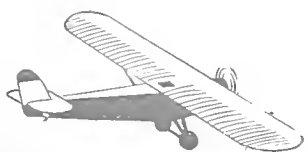

May they continue as such through life, and may all the success in the world be theirs.

Sincerely yours,

H. Ross Masterson
